EL PASO HIGH SCHOOL

EL PASO, TEXAS

VOLUME I, NUMBER I

EPHS . . . The First 60 Years

El Paso High School with its 1885 stairs and 375 windows is regarded among the finest school buildings on the continent. This 60-year old school has not only gone through war, depression and the Watergate scandal but also has been able to survive all other catastrophies of time.

El Paso's first high school was constructed 74 years ago in 1901-02 on the site of the present UT El Paso School of Nursing. It consisted of 12 classrooms and an auditorium which seated 300. The city, as well as the school, was growing at a tremendous rate and there was soon need for a new high school building. Planning began in the summer of 1912 when a four-block site was purchased.

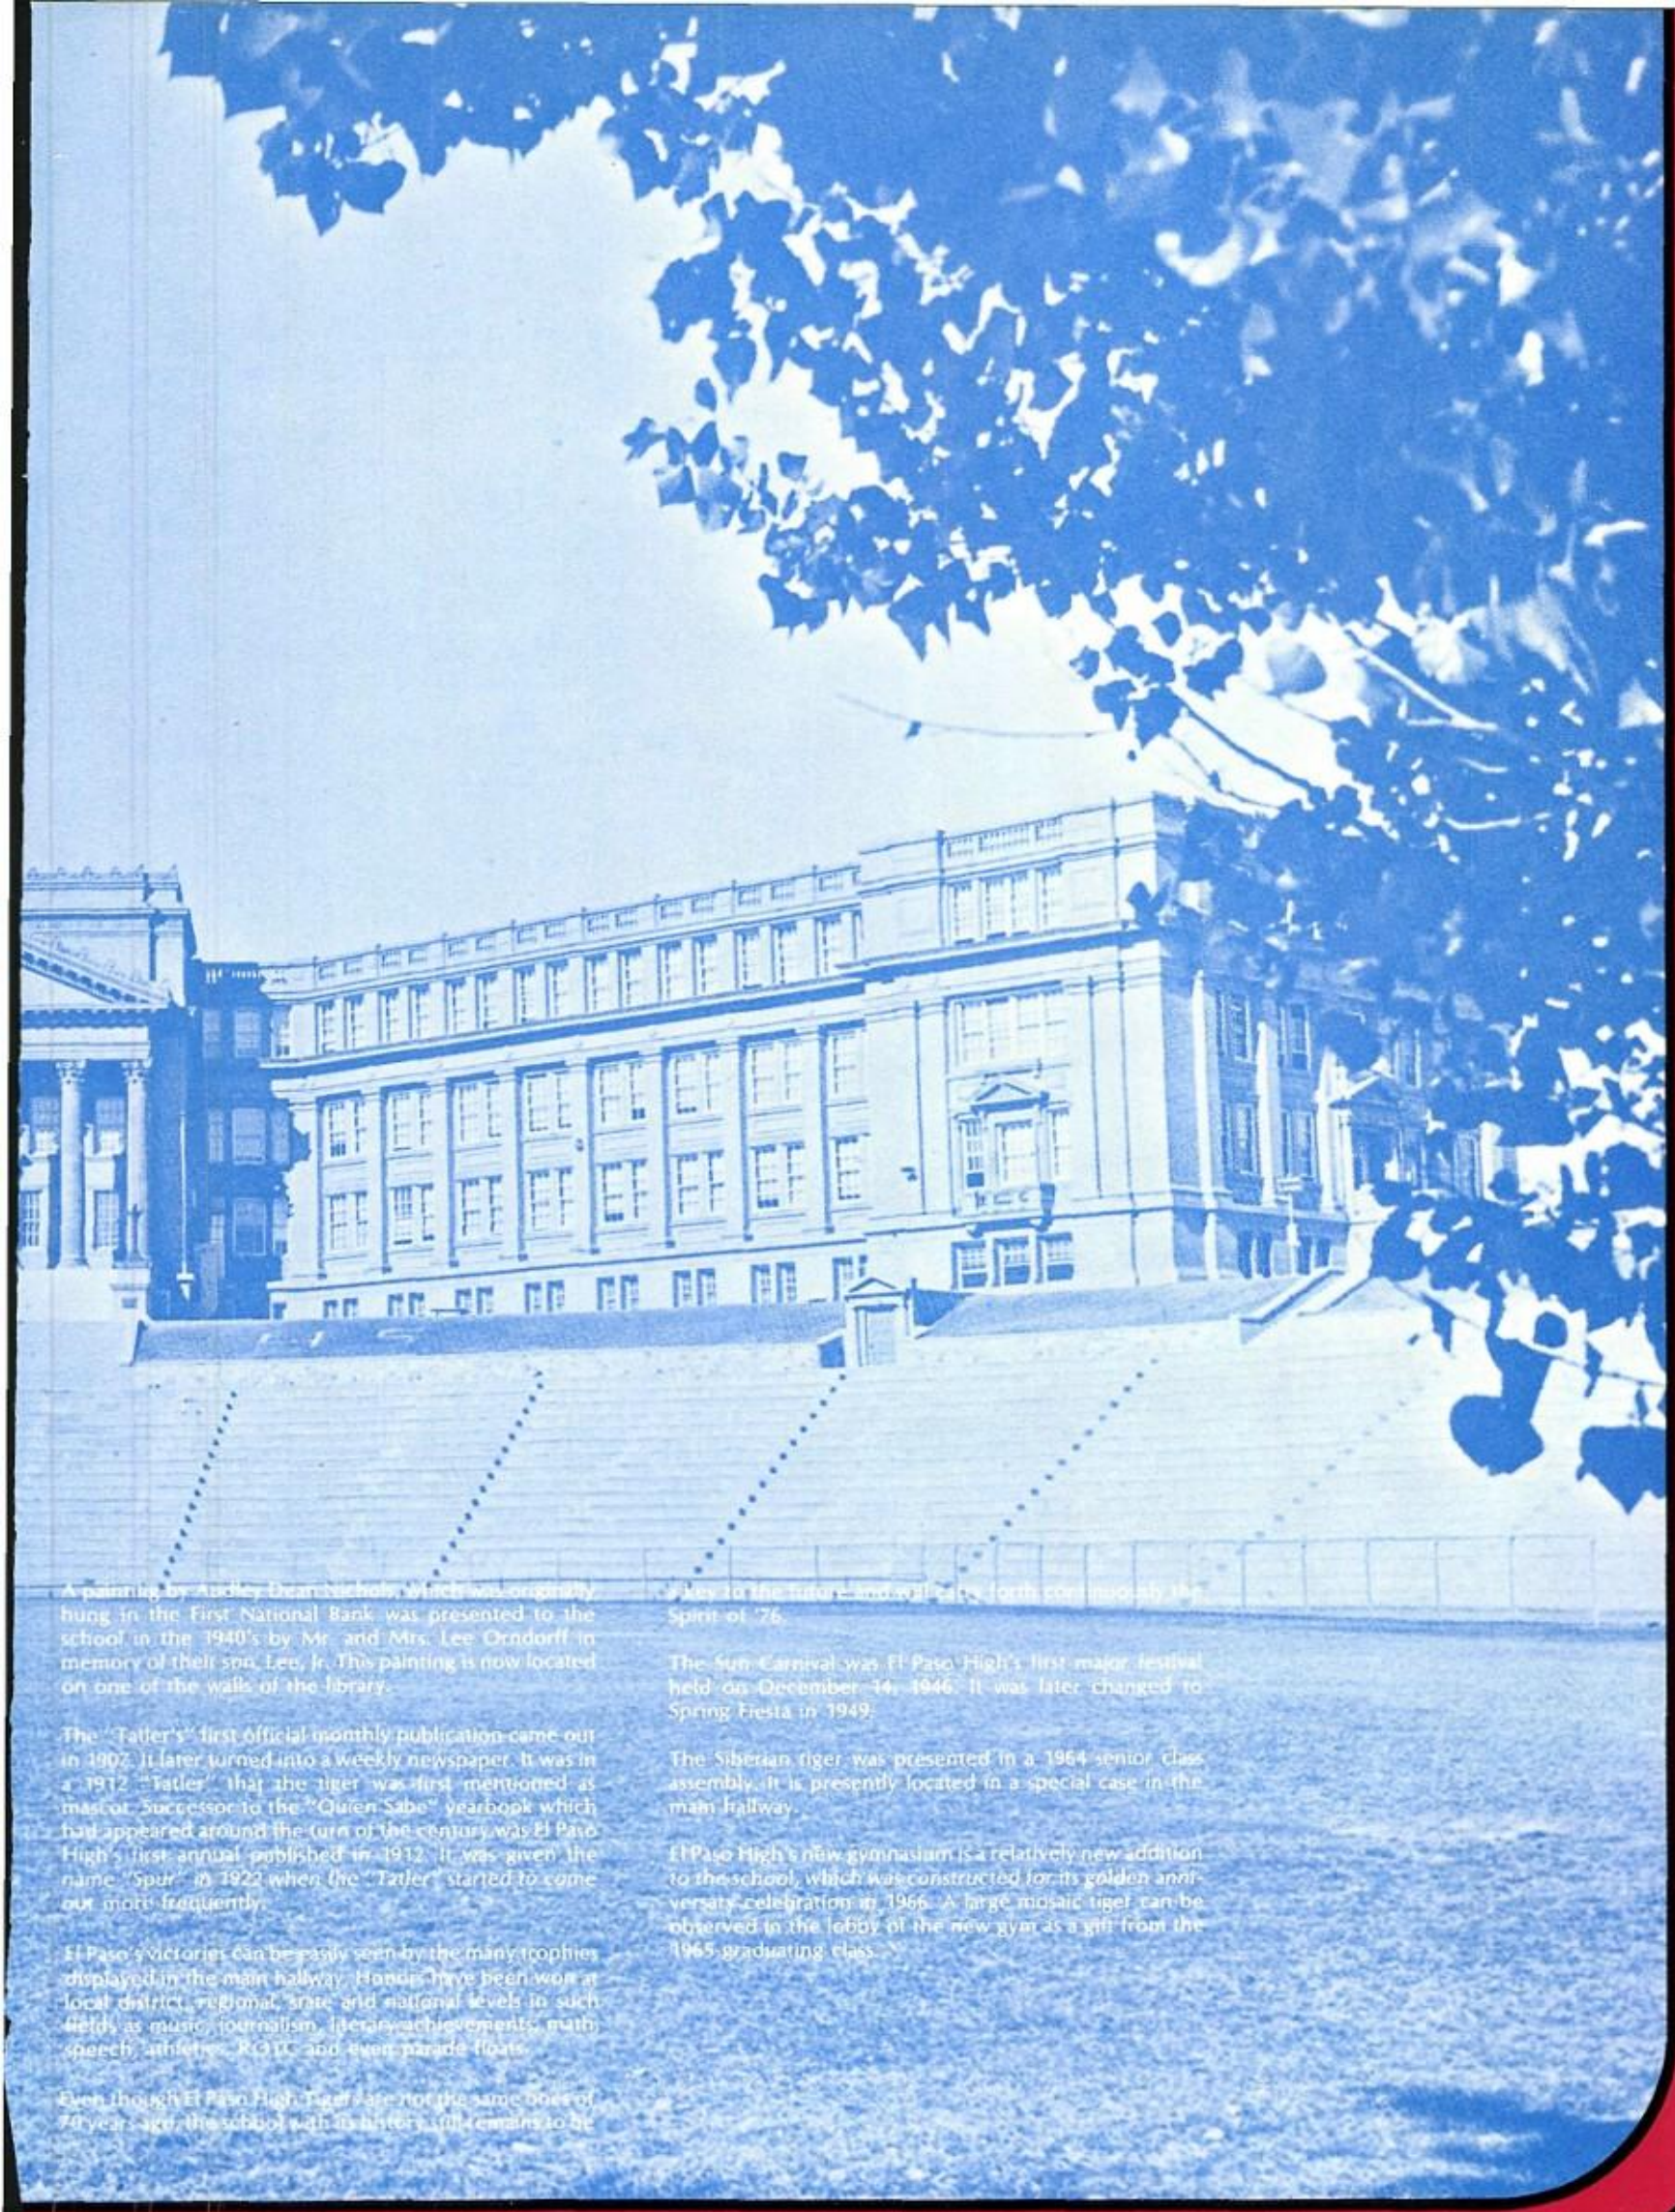
Architects traveled widely to study the best schools in other cities in gathering ideas to construct the new high school. The new building located at 1600 North Virginia Street opened its doors on September 18, 1916, even though completion was delayed two more weeks because of construction problems.

The Nu Sigma class, as it called itself, consisted of 75 students, all of whom were the first to graduate from EPHS in May, 1917. In 1919, it was among five schools in the nation to have the Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC) which has remained as a part of the school to date.

Junior college classes were started in September, 1920 on the fourth floor of EPHS. This college was organized that year as the first in Texas for those students preparing for higher work in universities and those laying a foundation for a teacher's career.

Freshman Tigers in 1920-21 were the first to paint El Paso High's school letter, the "E", on Mt. Franklin. The renowned pianist Paderewski presented a grand piano to the school at the end of his 1923 tour. It still sits in a neglected state on the auditorium stage.

In February, 1935, the Parent-Teacher Association sponsored the school's first dance in the girls' gymnasium. Two years later, EPHS won second place in the Sun Carnival Parade for a float depicting the Greek god Apollo, while in 1938, the Tigers took honorable mention for their float on Texas.



A painting by Audley Dean Nichols, which was originally hung in the First National Bank was presented to the school in the 1940's by Mr. and Mrs. Lee Orndorff in memory of their son, Lee, Jr. This painting is now located on one of the walls of the library.

The "Tatler's" first official monthly publication came out in 1907. It later turned into a weekly newspaper. It was in a 1912 "Tatler" that the tiger was first mentioned as mascot. Successor to the "Quien Sabe" yearbook which had appeared around the turn of the century was El Paso High's first annual published in 1912. It was given the name "Spur" in 1922 when the "Tatler" started to come out more frequently.

El Paso's victories can be easily seen by the many trophies displayed in the main hallway. Honors have been won at local district, regional, state and national levels in such fields as music, journalism, literary achievements, math, speech, athletics, R.O.T.C. and even parade floats.

Even though El Paso High Tigers are not the same breed of 70 years ago, the school with its history still remains to be

Key to the future—motivation is a form constantly in Spirit of '76.

The Sun Carnival was El Paso High's first major festival held on December 14, 1946. It was later changed to Spring Fiesta in 1949.

The Siberian tiger was presented in a 1964 senior class assembly. It is presently located in a special case in the main hallway.

El Paso High's new gymnasium is a relatively new addition to the school, which was constructed for its golden anniversary celebration in 1966. A large mosaic tiger can be observed in the lobby of the new gym as a gift from the 1965 graduating class.

'76 'Spur' Dedicated To Steinmann

The Spirit of '76 Spur is dedicated to a true friend and fellow Tiger, who gives unselfishly of himself to make the "School on the Hill" one of the best anywhere.

Not only is he respected by both teachers and students, but by anybody with whom he comes in contact. He has helped promote spirit while encouraging all students as an inspiring educator and humanitarian.

In appreciation of his faithful services in the best interest of the school and its students through his personal devotion, by being patient, unselfish and understanding, the annual staff dedicates this yearbook to Mr. William E. Steinmann.

Fresh Start For Yearbook

The Bicentennial and 60th Anniversary edition of the Spur had its new beginning on the presses of Josten's/American Yearbook Company in Topeka, Kansas.

Under the leadership of Mr. David Woods, adviser, and Mr. Mike Higgins, yearbook representative, the staff learned new techniques in layout, photo cropping and how to write informative but creative copy, used extensively in this book. The 20-member staff was headed by co-editors Mark Lerner and Eddie Gonzalez.

The "Tatler's" first official publication came out in 1907. It later turned into a weekly newspaper. It was in a 1912 "Tatler" that the tiger was first mentioned as a mascot.

Up until last year the "Tatler" was done by the letterpress printing process. This is the first year the "Tatler" is published at Sun Publishing Company by the offset process.

"Though small in number, they have grown into their responsibilities," stated Mr. David Woods, journalism sponsor.

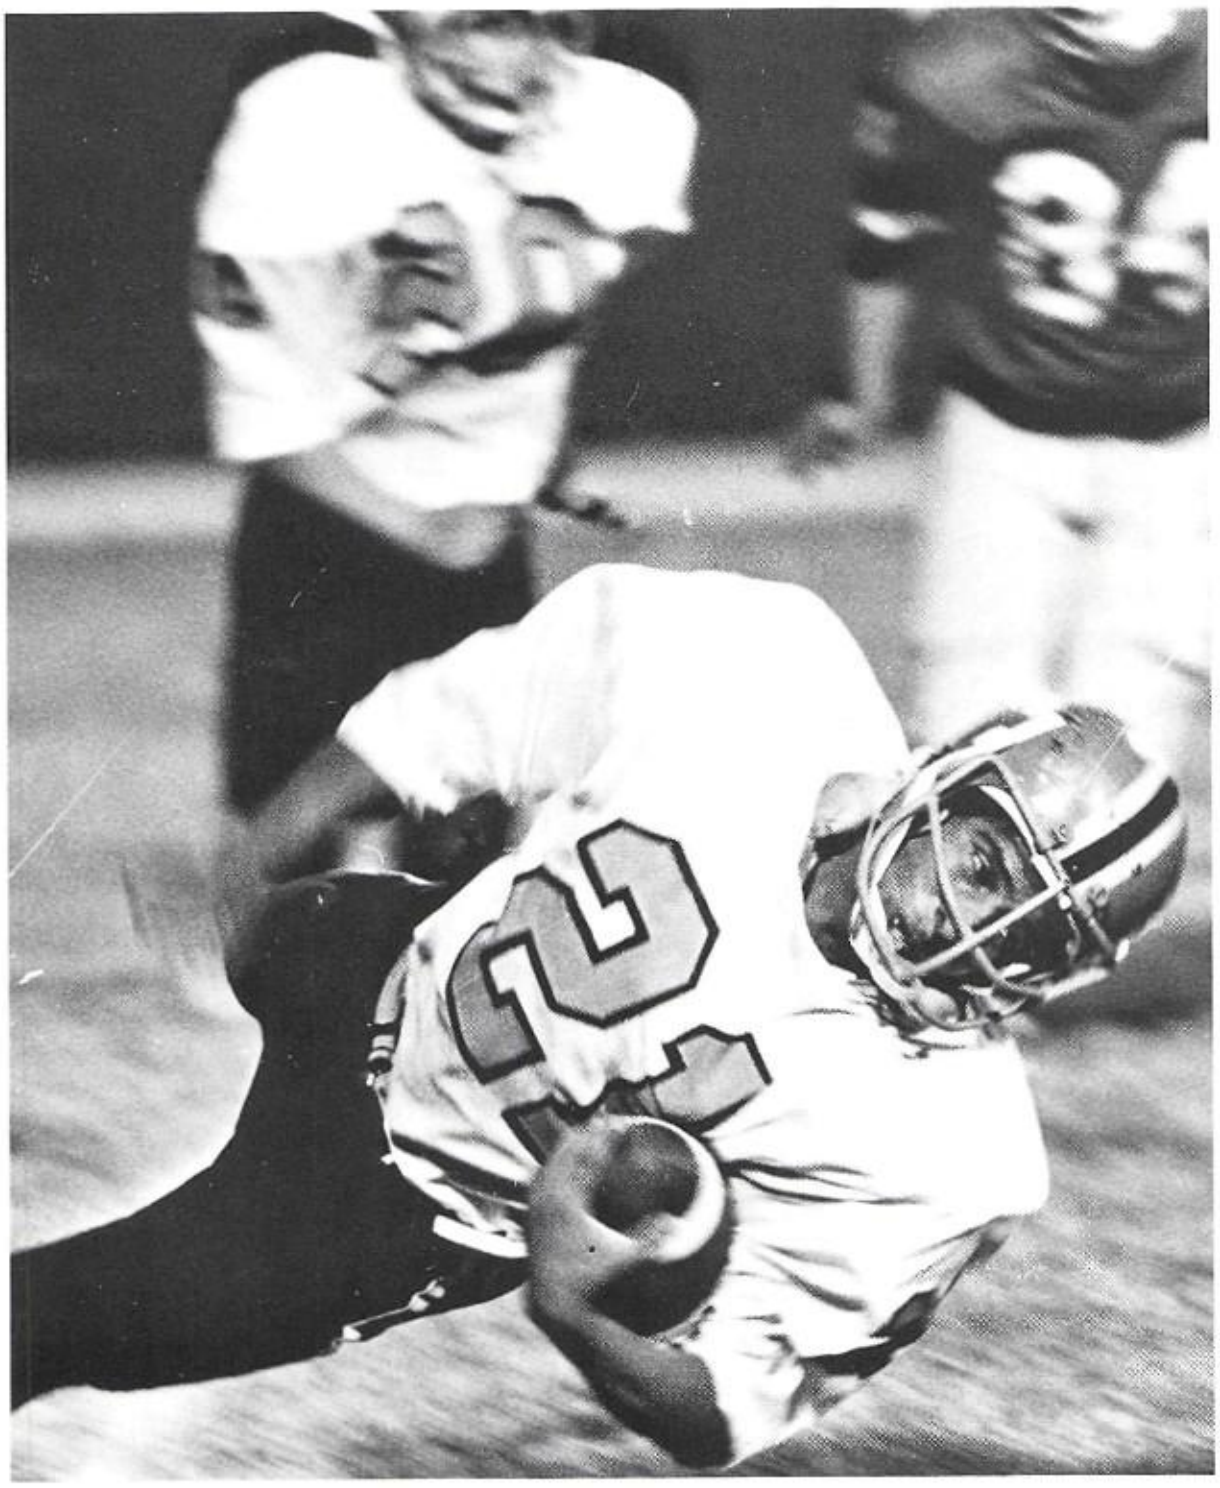
In the first days of fall and school El Paso high's varsity football team traveled to Las Cruces to play the Las Cruces High Bulldogs, who later finished in New Mexico state championship rankings. El Paso was edged out 14-19. The Tigers played a hard hitting game.

The next week El Paso faced Cathedral in the friendly confines of Jones Stadium. The Irish kick their way to victory 3-0 made good on a field goal attempt during second quarter.

In the third week of football El Paso was matched with Austin in the annual "claw" battle.



The previous year El Paso took the claw from the Panthers in a surprise game over Austin in a driving rainstorm. This year Austin repossed the trophy by defeating the Tigers 21-6. The first El Paso victory was against Ft. Stockton when Luis Amaya passed two TD bombs to Damon Crossland and Sergio Enriquez ran in a six yard win for El Paso.

The Foxes stood at 0-4 when they went up against El Paso. After a run back touchdown off the opening kick off the Tigers were unable to score a gain for the remainder of the evening as the Foxes rolled on to a 42-8 victory

For Homecoming, El Paso entertained the Riverside Rangers in Jones Stadium. Before long the Bengals took and held the lead in determination to win their first district game in two years, 37-20. El Paso traveled next to Parkland to play the Parkland Matadors on the night of their homecoming. The Tigers went on that night to pounce the Matadors squad 14-0 and the Bengals celebrated two wins in a row and a overall 3-5 record.

Halloween proved to be a nightmare as Bowie crushed the district hopes of El Paso high. Photographs show (p.98) the Tigers inches from victory during several plays, but according to officials the Tigers "just didn't get in the door". The Bengals once again dropping the game, 6-0.

Girls' Staff Backs Teams

"Behind every great man there is a woman." Behind every great team at El Paso High there is a coach. Backing up each girls' team is a dedicated woman, striving not only for victory, but for perfection in effort, discipline and physical fitness. This woman is the backbone of the team. She is the teacher, adviser, and at times, mother of all girls who come in contact with her.

Along with the coaches, there are still others who sustain the team. They are the team. They are the managers and trainers. The managers issue out uniforms, are in charge of all equipment, and handle scorebooks. from broken fingernails to pulled muscles, the trainers take care of injuries that occur at practices and at games.

Together the coaches, managers, and trainers make up that special team behind the teams.

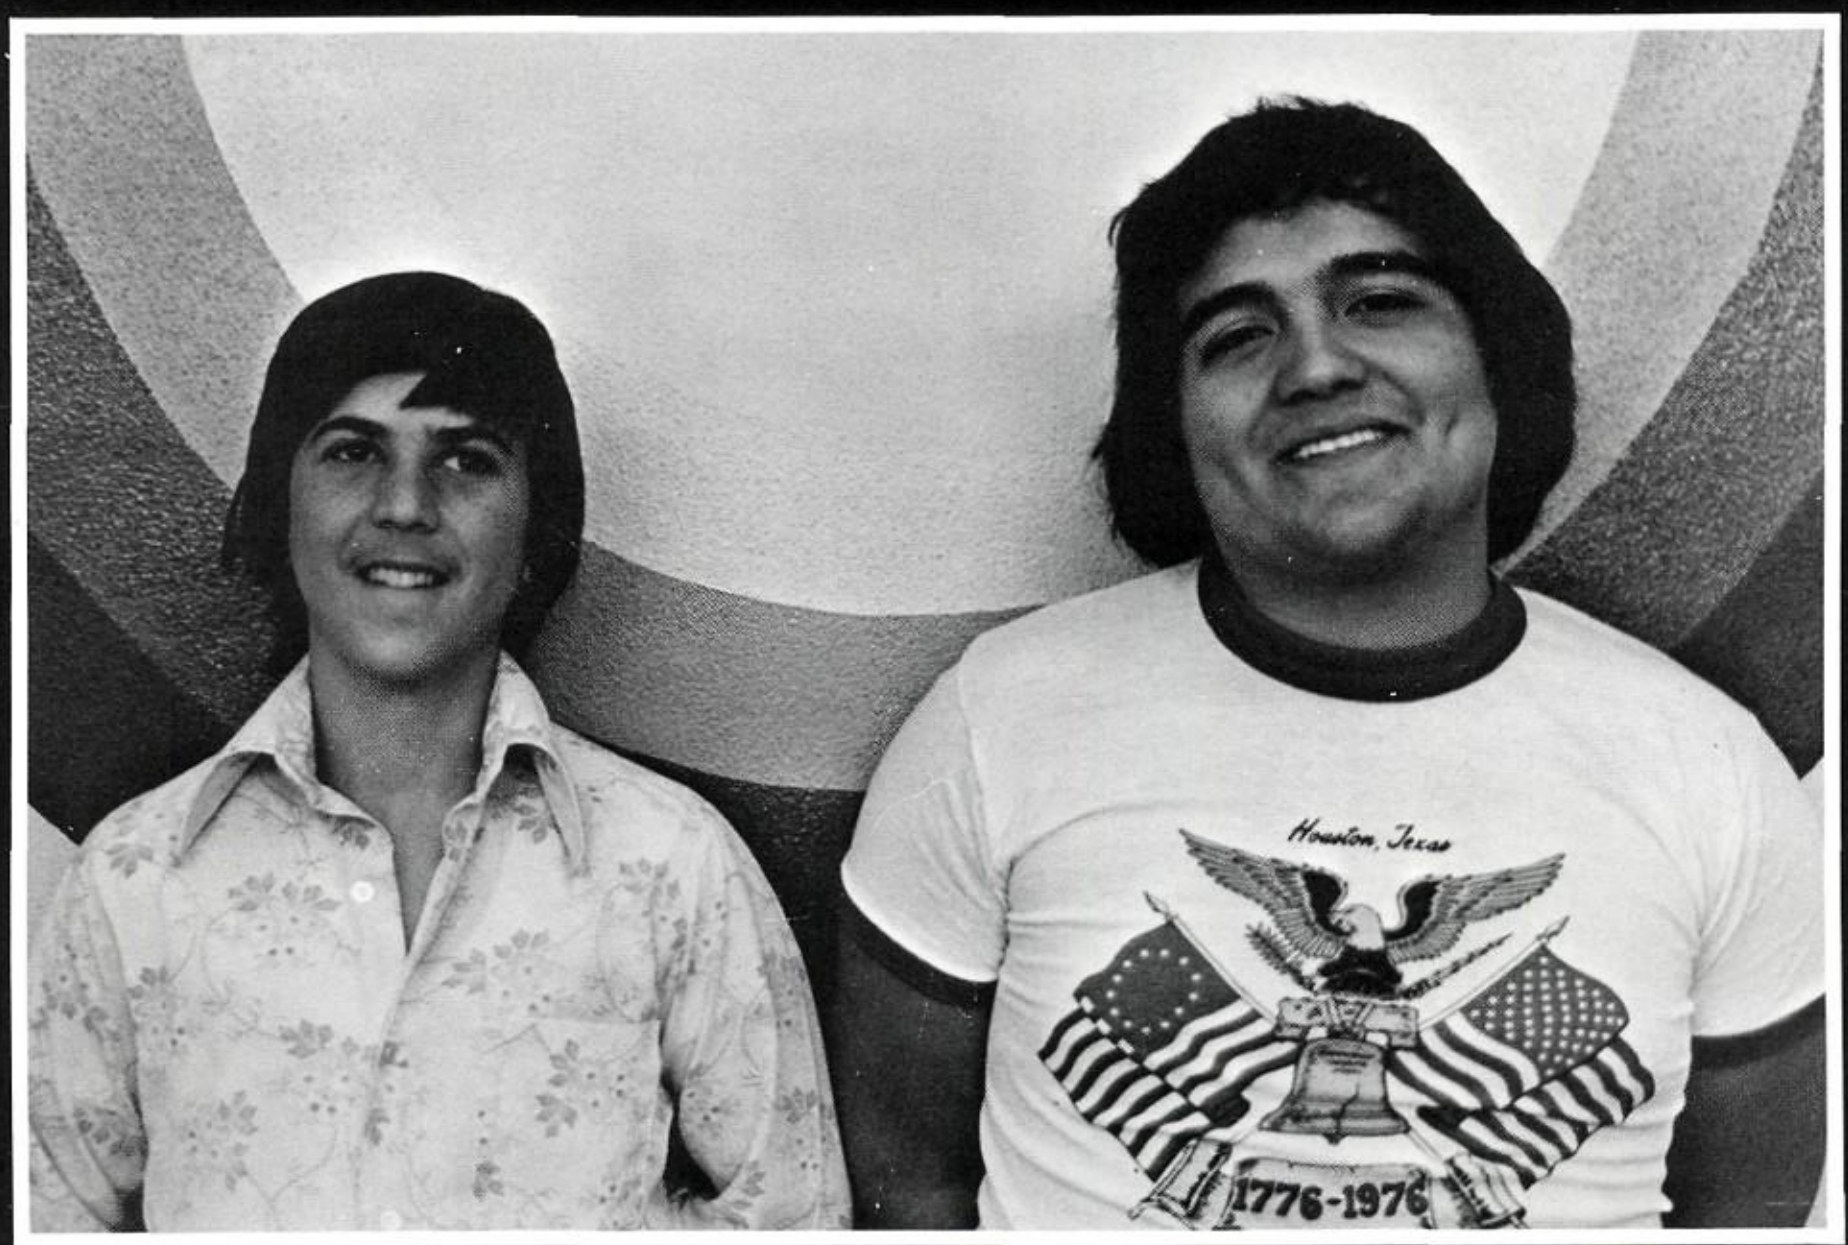
'We Can't Believe We Finished The Who-o-o-o-o-o-ole Thing!!!!!!!!'



Books, like friends, should be few and well-chosen. Like friends, too, we should return to them again and again — for, like true friends, they will never fail us, only give to us new memories every time we open them.

That is why both of us are pleased to present to you, the student body, this collection of some of the most memorable moments of this past year, so that you and your friends may return in later years to relish and relive the best year you will ever have.

Throughout this past year we have had our share of fun and problems, resulting in the production of this yearbook, but the results have made this the best book in sixty years.

Both of us are so grateful to everybody at El Paso High, our sponsor, Mr. David Woods, our yearbook representative, Mr. Mike Higgins, our wonderful staff, and most of all, you the student body of EPHS, for without you this yearbook would not have been possible. We sincerely present this '76 yearbook to you, for the most memories possible in a single year.

Respectfully yours,
Mark Lerner

To General McKenzie, It was fun working in "Ten Little Indians" with you.

Vera Claythorne

I'm glad I got to act beside you in both of the plays. Maybe next year you can play my father (again?). I'm really glad we got to be friends. We'll have acting classes together next year so I'll see you.

Love,

Stephanie Carr

Rolf,

Ralph, how ya been? This year was really a blast. It was fun at the lunch table. Maybe we can do it next year too. See ya later. Love always,

Shelley

God Bless You

Rolf,

I must admit it has been an experience working with you "crazy fools" this year. I hope you will keep up your talented it would be a shame if you were to pursue it — I know you'll be busy though — Do try out for one act play so you can show them up this year! The pleasure has definitely been mine.
